Customer success was overworked between harvesting seasons...

Users were not managing their fields.

No real time usage